STONE

In our stone collection we use different types of marble, travertin and limestone. The surface of the stone is brushed and unvarnished to emphasize grain and structure. This is to enhance the feeling of natural stone.

Since each block of stone varies in color, texture and grain pattern the expression is vivid. Lime spar, veins, striations and sand pits are natural characteristics that show that the material is genuine. No two stones are alike, which is part of the charm of natural materials like stone.

WOOD

Our range of wooden furniture are made of FSC certified wood such as oak. This material is known for it's exeptional strength and good durability. It is one of the most popular types of hardwood, characterized by hardness, elasticity and resistance to cracking with temperature changes.

All our wooden products come in four different surface treatments, which makes it easy to mix and match them according to prefered interior style. Our standard finishes are; black-, smoked-, natural- and white oiled.

CORTEN

Our japanese inspired outdoor range is made of corten steel. This is a special type of steel alloy which naturally weathers over time to create a beautiful rusty orange-brown colour. The rust layer is transformed into a dense patina layer, sealing-off the steel surface, resisting further corrosion.

This material is not only maintainance free, it constitutes a beautiful contrast to the soft greenery of the garden and have become one of the most trendy and popular materials among architects and landscape designers.
